

Week 33 Vocabulary

Words from Can You Tell the Difference & The Rhinoceros

word play—playful use of words nature—the physical world such as plants and animals homely—not pretty or handsome; plain farewell—goodbye and good wishes snout—the front part of an animal's head that sticks out reptile—a cold-blooded animal with dry scales or hard plates on its skin

larva—an insect after it hatches from an egg pupa—an insect in a middle stage of its development antennae—a pair of long, thin body parts on the head of an insect

cold-blooded—having blood whose temperature changes with the temperature of the air or water

Week 33 Vocabulary

Words from Can You Tell the Difference & The Rhinoceros

word play—playful use of words

nature—the physical world such as plants and animals

homely—not pretty or handsome; plain

farewell—goodbye and good wishes

snout—the front part of an animal's head that sticks out

reptile—a cold-blooded animal with dry scales or hard plates on its skin

larva—an insect after it hatches from an egg

pupa—an insect in a middle stage of its development

antennae—a pair of long, thin body parts on the head of an insect

cold-blooded—having blood whose temperature changes with the temperature of the air or water